Update on Coronavirus

As the coronavirus continues to spread throughout our community, Mount Sinai South Nassau's health professionals are on the frontlines of this fight, trying to save lives, putting their patients ahead of their personal needs to fight a virus that has sickened and killed thousands. At Mount Sinai South Nassau, we are now caring for 300 COVID patients with 50 on ventilators. This is an unprecedented public health crisis that is testing our resources beyond anything we have seen in a century.

Mount Sinai South Nassau's triage tents are open and operational, now treating patients. Emergency Department physicians and nurses will screen patients with COVID or flu like symptoms in the triage tents. This is not a COVID-19 testing site. Jones Beach remains the place to go for COVID-19 testing. Our Emergency Department staff is here for you if you have a true medical emergency.

We are committed to the safety and well-being of our health care professionals and doing everything possible to give our frontline nurses and physicians resources they need, including personal protective equipment like masks, gowns, gloves and other equipment. We are accepting donations of these items. Please contact the Development office at 516-377-5360.

But we need your help! This is a defining moment for our hospital and for the entire health care system. You can help by donating to our COVID-19 Response Fund, COVID FUND

Please Consider Donating Now!

While we appreciate the many donations of food we have received, we now request businesses, individuals & civic groups consider monetary donations so we can better allocate where the need is greatest.

Mount Sinai South Nassau reports 'unprecedented' situation, with 200 coronavirus patients, 61 on ventilators

Mount Sinai South Nassau Hospital in Oceanside is now dealing with an "unprecedented" situation -- some 200 patients have tested positive for the coronavirus, 61 of them on ventilators, a spokesman said Tuesday. "We are stretched beyond anything we have seen in the past," spokesman Joe Calderone said. "The situation here is unprecedented." Read more

Special thanks to the team at Stop & Shop who donated 2,500 prepackaged meals to our staff and who have pledged to resupply us twice a week

Thank you to H. Schrier & Co., Inc., The Libertoff Family, Mark Baron & Joel Schneider for Arranging a Special Delivery of Groceries for Hospital Staff

Mount Sinai South Nassau doctors, nurses and front line staff members are working extended shifts and overtime to fulfill their calling to provide the specialized care needed by all patients, as well as the surge of patients with COVID-19.

Recognizing that this may cause them to forgo routine daily living activities, such as grocery shopping, full line food service distributor H. Schrier, & Co., Inc. and the Libertoff Family, in collaboration with Joel Schneider, Mount Sinai South Nassau Board member; and Mark Baron, founder of Parking Systems, delivered staple groceries, including milk, eggs, bread, fruits, to patient care staff as they leave the hospital and return to their homes.

A big thank you to our amazing community and more than 50 local businesses for their support during this difficult time. Your donations of food for our hardworking nurses and staff have warmed our hearts and lifted our spirits. We are so grateful. Please continue to support these local businesses who donated to Mount Sinai South Nassau.
