Update on Coronavirus

Mount Sinai South Nassau’s emergency department will deploy two medical tents to expedite the separation of patients with COVID-19 symptoms from those presenting with other emergency medical issues. The tent will be equipped with basic emergency medical equipment for assessment and appropriate triage of patients. It is not a COVID testing site. See live videos below.

New York is the epicenter of the coronavirus in the United States. Our role in combating this pandemic is critical. As the number of cases continues to soar, our nurses, physicians, respiratory therapists and staff are working around the clock to care for those affected by COVID-19.

At Mount Sinai South Nassau, caring for our patients and ensuring the safety of our hospital staff remains at the forefront of our efforts. Yet, Mount Sinai South Nassau, like hospitals everywhere, is coping with critical shortages of protective equipment. Donations are helping to save lives by providing our staff with much-needed protective gear, meals during long shifts and support for their families. We are faced with an unprecedented challenge, but with your help, we will come through this.

We are grateful for your support of our hospital. Stay healthy!

A big thank you to our amazing community and local businesses for their support during this difficult time. Your donations of food for our hardworking nurses and staff have warmed our hearts and lifted our spirits. We are so grateful. Please continue to support these local businesses who donated to Mount Sinai South Nassau.
