Breastfeeding
Breast milk is the perfect food for your baby. It contains all the vitamins and nutrients that your baby needs to be healthy and thrive. As a Baby-Friendly hospital, we adhere to the Ten Steps of Successful Breastfeeding which consist of evidence-based practices that have been shown to increase breastfeeding initiation and duration.

Breastfeeding Benefits to Baby:
- Breast milk helps the baby’s immune system to mature
- Breast milk is easier to digest
- Helps babies to feel secure

Breastfeeding Benefits to Mother:
- Helps the mother’s body to recover from pregnancy and labor
- Is linked to a decreased risk of certain ovarian and breast cancers
- Is easier – no need to prepare and heat bottles
- Saves money – no need to buy formula

Mount Sinai South Nassau has been designated as a "Baby-Friendly" hospital for offering the highest level of breastfeeding education and support and for having environments that foster and encourage maternal-infant bonding. Mount Sinai South Nassau is the only hospital on Nassau's South Shore to have been awarded the Baby-Friendly designation, which is sponsored by the World Health Organization (WHO) and the United Nations Children’s Fund (UNICEF).
